

Wanted: Reward-Based Trainers

Best Friends Animal Society is helping the public to find dog trainers who are keeping training fun. Because you are a trainer hand-picked by Victoria Stilwell Positively Dog Training, you are pre-approved to join us.

We want trainers who can:

- Help people to build stronger relationships with their non-human family members
- Teach skills to entire families that are safe and easy to use
- Use reward-based techniques, and have an understanding of what methods have been scientifically proven to be the best way for mammals to learn

Everyone — parents and spouses, children and in-laws — can benefit from learning how to practice better relationship skills in order to build trust and confidence in their furry friends.

Would you like to help us help more families stay together? If so, please fill out and email this short form back to us to be included on our list of recommended trainers.
